

Dr. Kyriaki Koukouraki is Lecturer of Translation at the Ionian University of Corfu (Greece) at the Department of Foreign Languages, Translation and Interpreting (DFLTI). She holds a Ph.D. in Intercultural Relations from Johannes-Gutenberg University Mainz (Germany), and undergraduate degrees in interpreting and translation from the Ionian University of Corfu (Greece) at the Department of Foreign Languages, Translation and Interpreting. Since 2008, she has joined the DFLTI, where she teaches both to undergraduate and master students general translation and translation of economic, legal and political texts from German into Greek. From 2004 until 2007 she conducted quarterly reports on the textile industry sector of Greece for Racoland Ltd. She has also been a freelance translator for Intertranslations Ltd. since 2003, translating mainly economic texts from Greek into German.